A digital illustration of a Parisian street in winter. The scene is set at night, with a heavy blanket of snow covering the ground, trees, and rooftops. Tall, dark trees line both sides of the street, their branches heavily laden with snow. Warm, golden light emanates from street lamps and building windows, creating a cozy atmosphere. In the foreground, a family is walking away from the viewer: a man in a dark coat, a woman in a light-colored coat, and a small child in a blue coat. The street is wet and reflective, showing the lights from the lamps and buildings. The overall mood is serene and romantic.
